

Guidelines for submitting a synopsis to Natural Product Reports

The editorial team are happy to hear from authors who are interested in writing an article for Natural Product Reports.

Before the editorial team – usually in consultation with the editorial board – decide whether to commission an article for the journal, we ask that authors send a brief (one-page) synopsis for their proposed article for consideration. Please include the following information:

- A proposed title for the work
- A suggested length of the article – this should be the number of printed journal pages
- A short description of the area to be covered and the work that you would like to include
- Suggested section headings
- A short list of key references
- The time span of the literature you intend to cover
- Approximate date of article submission

Synopses should be submitted to the editorial team at npr@rsc.org.
