

SCI's Fine Chemicals Group International Year of Chemistry Public Lecture Series 2011

Magic, Folk Medicine, Drugs and Chemistry

Prof Keith Jones, Institute of Cancer Research

Wednesday 26 October 2011 17:30

Imperial College London, South Kensington, SW7 2AZ

Contact: outreach.scienceactivities@imperial.ac.uk

Please register online for details at : <http://www3.imperial.ac.uk/outreach/events>

This lecture will describe how molecules isolated from Nature have played a key role in many human activities from magic through to drugs. It will illustrate how chemistry and chemists have developed some of the modern medicines that society now depends on and which have enhanced life expectancy so spectacularly in the last 100 years.

Admission Free

Full listings and details can be found on the official IYC website:

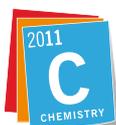

<http://www.chemistry2011.org/participate/events>

Series Organisers:

Dr Sarah Major, Argenta

Dr Simon Peace, GlaxoSmithKline

Dr David Alker, David Alker Associates

IYC 2011

International Year of CHEMISTRY

SCI

where science meets business