

Nucleosides and Nucleotides: synthetic and biological chemistry

Friday, 17th April 2015

London, UK

Call for Papers

Please see details overleaf

Biological & Medicinal

Chemistry Sector

Synopsis

Nucleosides and nucleotides remain one of the most fruitful drug classes, providing about 50% of antiviral drugs and 20% of cancer drugs used in the UK. Nucleoside and nucleotide chemistry constitute a vibrant field of research for both synthetic and biological chemists. This meeting will bring together scientists at the interface of synthetic chemistry and biology to tackle current challenges and celebrate recent achievements in the field.

Keynote Speakers

Chris Meier (University of Hamburg)

Chris McGuigan (University of Cardiff)

Other speakers will be drawn from the call for papers which will close on 2nd January.

Call for papers

Abstracts are invited for both oral and poster presentation. and submission deadlines are:

2nd January for oral abstracts

6th March for poster abstracts
