

Laying Water Pipes in Contaminated Land

1-day Seminar in David Livingstone Centre for Sustainability.
Thursday 23rd June, 2011

In response to industry demand, this seminar provides informed discussion and guidance on the materials selection when laying water pipes through contaminated land. There are many challenges for the water industry and developers and consultants relating to site investigation, the characterisation of land and appropriate pipe materials. This seminar examines:

- The new BS 10175 Code of Practice on Site Investigation
- The United Kingdom Water Industry Research (UKWIR) guidance.

It will provide a better understanding of the key parameters and standards applied in the decision process.

Contributors include Scottish Water, the Drinking Water Quality Regulator, Water Industry experts and consultants specialising in contaminated land.

Who Should Attend?

The target audience is environmental consultants, property developers and water industry specialists. Academics with relevant research interests will also participate.

Programme

- 9.30 Registration
- 10.00 Introduction and Welcome – Richard Allan, Scottish Water
- 10.30 Laying Water Pipes in Contaminated Land – Angus Turner, United Utilities
- 10.45 UKWIR Guidance Document – Mike Shepherd, Thames Water
- 11.30 Break
- 11.45 A Regulators perspectives – Matthew Bower, Drinking Water Quality Regulator

12.30 Lunch and networking

13.15 A public health perspective of the risks – Margaret McGuinness, Scottish Water

14.00 BSI 10175 revision – Alison McKay, Independent Consultant

14.45 Break

15.00 Open discussion session

Speakers

Richard Allan, Chief Scientist, Scottish Water, Matthew Bower, Drinking Water Quality Regulator for Scotland, Margaret McGuinness, Scottish Water, Alison McKay, Environmental consultant, Mike Shepherd, Thames Water, Angus Turner, United Utilities

Venue

The seminar will be held in the University of Strathclyde, Graham Hills Building, Room 5.15, 50 Richmond Street, Glasgow G1 1XN. This is a short walk from Glasgow Queen St Station and Buchanan Bus Station.

Fees

RSC members - £75
Retired RSC members/ students £60
Non RSC members £100

How to apply

To book your place at the seminar go to:

<http://www.rsc.org/ConferencesAndEvents/conference/eventsbymonth.cfm>

If you book before 5th May 2011, you can benefit from a 5% early booking discount

Final booking deadline 17th June 2011
If payment is not received with registration a £10 charge will be added.