

The Formulation Science and Technology group (FSTG) of the Royal Society of Chemistry is pleased to announce that it is planning to hold a third conference on Innovations in Encapsulation.

We invite you to take advantage of corporate exposure and marketing opportunities. Exhibitors can showcase services and instruments. This conference is a fantastic opportunity for the exhibitors and sponsors to attract, influence, interact and network with attendees, during breaks and networking sessions. Please see the packages list, to choose the best option available for you, and to support, participate and contribute to the success of this exciting event.

To book a stand or sponsorship package please email deborah@constableandsmith.com for a booking form.
