

Collective inspiration

The Institution of Engineering and Technology presents

Hereford and Worcester Network

Mechanics in Sport

Chris Hughes, Senior Lecturer in Biomechanics

As the scientific study of sport improves, the impetus to provide athletes with a more competitive edge is for ever increasing and understanding the physics and mechanics behind what athletes do, how they do it and what limits their abilities is critical.

An insight into the issues facing a sports scientist, this lecture will look at why long jumpers don't jump, what limits the marathon world record and why bigger is not better on a bike.

Contact: Tony Knight - 01684 896923

Register Online at: www.theiet.org/HerefordWorcs (Free Event - Non Members Welcome)

4th April 2011 7:30pm

Fownes Hotel, City Walls Road, Worcester, WR1 2AP