at Burlington House

An iconic venue

Located within the backdrop of London's iconic West End, the Royal Society of Chemistry at Burlington House is a wedding venue filled with opulence, charm and exquisite detail.

As the home of the Royal Society of Chemistry since 1857, we're a venue that blends historic elegance, vibrant spirit and modern sophistication, creating a truly memorable occasion worth celebrating.

From the moment you step inside, you will be captivated by the splendour of our carefully preserved architecture.

Whether you require a more intimate gathering for a handful of guests or wish to celebrate with all those you hold dear, we offer a choice of rooms to create the ideal space for your wedding celebration.

Ready to take a closer look?

The Rooms

Your perfect wedding reception backdrop.

Choose from a range of enchanting spaces to host your ceremony and reception. Surround yourselves with unique historical architecture in a magnificent library, or experience ornate features, grand windows, and views of the stunning courtyard - the choice is yours.

Science Room

Scientific heritage meets contemporary design in the Science Room, offering an elegant and iconic space perfect for your reception.

The Library

With historical touches and a sense of grandeur, our prestigious library and landmark event space is the perfect room for your wedding breakfast and party.

Your guests will be surrounded by stories of discovery with delicate wooden features, literature throughout the ages and Italianate renaissance architecture.

“ The library and the anteroom are a superb venue and the tables were so beautifully decorated.

Fish Room

Decorative pillars line the Fish Room – a small, intimate space with an atmospheric yet contemporary touch.

Enjoy stunning courtyard views, high ceilings, and large windows, ideal for a small cocktail reception.

Council Room

Filled with character and boasting memorable antique artwork from our prized collection, the Council Room is the perfect choice for those seeking a contemporary yet classical wedding reception radiating charm and class.

Cared for by our expert team

Every wedding celebration should feel unique, and our experienced wedding team is on hand to ensure you have all you require for the special day.

Whether it's floral arrangements or sourcing the evening's music and entertainment, we've partnered with a brilliant portfolio of suppliers over the years. Rest assured you're in safe and capable hands when it comes to planning your wedding reception.

“ Your staff were friendly, smart, efficient, and flexible to the needs of the guests. They are a tribute to your managers. ”

“ From AV to catering to service, all 5-star ratings! Donna and the team were fab! ”

Your bespoke wedding catering

Every great wedding reception also needs the right mix of food and drink, which is why we provide catering options from our expert in-house award-winning catering company, Houston & Hawkes.

Comprised of experienced chefs, sommeliers and mixologists, the team is sure to cook up culinary delights that both you and your guests will love. With the additional option of tailored packages with your wedding venue hire, work with our team to help conjure up something truly bespoke to mark your special day.

Our culinary experts excel in innovative touches that are underpinned by a commitment to sustainability. Sourced locally from some of the best suppliers in the business, every ingredient is consciously considered. Food miles are kept to a minimum, reducing travel and ensuring freshness.

“ The food was excellent and well served. The quality of the lamb was amazing, and everyone enjoyed the little surprise that came with the dessert. All our guests have remarked how much they enjoyed the whole day, so once again thanks to you all.
